Jason Ligon, CFE
Senior Manager

Services: Consulting | Industries: Litigation Support, Forensic Accounting and Fraud Investigations

Professional Overview

Jason has over nine years of experience providing litigation support, forensic accounting and investigation services to clients. He provides financial analyses and forensic accounting services in support of clients involved in disputes, including litigation, arbitration and mediation. His clients have included attorneys, companies, and Government agencies involved in numerous industries including financial services, construction, defense contracting, manufacturing, healthcare and nuclear power, among others.

Jason specializes in the forensic accounting and financial analysis related to fraud, contractual disputes and financial damage calculations. He has also worked on disputes with testifying experts on cases with damages in excess of $800 million. Jason has experience investigating various fraudulent matters including embezzlement, asset misappropriation, expense reimbursement fraud and contract and procurement fraud. He also has experience conducting internal and corporate investigations, including suspect and witness interviews.

Prior to joining Elliott Davis, Jason was a Senior Investigator at a Fortune 100 financial services company and, previously, a Manager with a boutique consulting firm located near Washington D.C.
